The Cranbrook Courier last week remarked: "And speaking of Aberhart and his Social Credit scheme, Harold Winch in his speech in Cranbrook said that the C.C.F. party could have won the last election in Alberta if they had wanted to use certain tactics. Aberhart went to the people with a Bible in one hand and a promise of $25 in the other."

What the C.C.F.'s should have done was to have gone before the electorate with two Bibles in one hand and a promise of $50 in the other, and they would have carried the day.

At a well attended meeting of Crow's Nest Chapter of the I.O.O.F., held on Wednesday of last week in the Anglican hall, the following officers were elected: Mrs. J. Hewitson, first vice-regent; Mrs. J. McPhail, second vice-regent; Mrs. S. Simister, secretary; Mrs. S. White, treasurer; Mrs. Jack Patterson, educational secretary; Mrs. E. Archer, "Echo" secretary; Mrs. J. R. Warner, standard bearer; Mrs. S. McKay, treasurer of the emergency fund; Mrs. S. McKay and Mrs. Archer, relief committee. Mrs. Warner was added to the visiting committee.

REMAINS MRS. D. RHODES LAID TO REST AT PINCHER

The remains of Mrs. Daniel Rhodes, who passed away last week of pneumonia, were laid to rest in the Pincher Creek cemetery on Thursday afternoon last, following service in the Anglican church.

Mrs. Rhodes had been ill but ten days. Her maiden name was Evelyn Arden. She was born in Marple, Cheshire, England, thirty-two years ago, and came to Canada in 1925 and was married to Daniel Rhodes, an old-timer of the Lundbreck district.

Besides her sorrowing husband, she is survived by two adopted children, Dorothy, aged 8, and Kenneth 4.

IMPORTS INCREASE ALMOST 34 MILLION POUNDS

Foreign vegetable oils such as peanut oil, palm oil, cottonseed oil, soybean oil, etc., entering Canada in increasing quantities, are having a serious effect on the use of Canadian butter and lard in Canadian kitchens.

These imported vegetable oils come from such countries as China, Manchukuo, United States, Egypt, etc., where for the most part living and labor conditions are far below those of Canada, and conditions of doubtful sanitation exist.

In 1935 these importations were 123,241,700 pounds. In 1936 the amount had increased to 158,027,713 pounds. These importations resulted in $1,215,000 pounds of shortening, containing no animal fats, being sold in 1936. No new market is being created, as these products are simply replacing Canadian butter and lard in the home market.

On the other hand, Canada is producing an annual surplus of from 7 to 10 million pounds of butter which must be exported, and some 20 million pounds of lard.

The Canadian market could easily absorb all of the butter, lard and edible tallow produced in Canada, and more; hence the Canadian producer should enjoy the advantage of this, and must be given this advantage to enable him to produce profitably. Instead, however, we find that the exportable surpluses of these products are increasing because of the foreign importations.

Seeing so many luxurious whisks growths around The Pass these days kinda gets under the skin of barbers who only recently had added hopes for future business sustained through a government code. They were quite satisfied to see about one in one hundred of the old men priding in beards, but when the high school kids start using the fertilizer it's entirely different. But, never mind, the worst is yet to come. Everything today is entitled to a reaction, and already the young ladies have been twisting their noses so disgustingly at the beards that they are unable to untwist them.

DRAW FOR WORLD CHAMPIONSHIP

The draw for the first round of the World Championship games has been made and finds the Dynamiters bracketed in Section C with Sweden, Poland and France. Section A with Great Britain, Germany, Hungary and Roumania, and Section B with Switzerland, Norway and Czechoslovakia complete the lineup. The three leading teams in A and C sections and the two top teams in B section, after completion of the first round robin series will enter the semi-finals, which will also be divided into sections of four teams each, the eventual winners and runners-up in each section advancing to the final series. Quite a complicated schedule which will mean about nine games for the Dynamiters before the crowd is safely stored away.—Kimberley Courier.

HARRY BROWN IN HARD LUCK

IS EUROPE RIDING FOR A FALL?

As we watch the rise of the many nationalistic states and their ever-increasing unfriendliness towards one another; as we note the application of the principles arising from the theories of power politics; and as we apprehensively await what appears to be a rapidly approaching and almost inevitable destruction of our existing system of civilization, we see Japan seize Manchuria, Italy seize Ethiopia, and Germany eye with great desire the vast and fertile granaries of the Ukraine. How has the world changed? What idea, different from those of former times, is behind the present unrest?

For years the belief that a desire power is the greatest incentive for war has held the thoughts of most. Prestige, it was considered, was the most desirable outcome of international conflict. However, there is much evidence that these ideas have changed greatly in the last two decades; of recent years there has been a noticeable trend towards a viewpoint that we now know as Economic Nationalism. It appears that we may interpret this development as a desire of the individuals of a nation to attain personal peace and security, rather than as the desire of a few politicians for national prestige, resultant from conflict.

It is felt by some countries that the greatest success can be attained through a national movement, directed by a competent dictator. Much of the propaganda disseminated, ideas such as racial purity and cultural heritage, is merely a form of "ballyhoo" intended to keep in line a certain proportion of the more sentimental citizens of the nation, until such time as the ultimate national objective may be reached.

In the eyes of these nations, peace and security implies many things—foreign markets, sources of raw materials, and colonies to act as a safety valve to surplus population. For these things the nations are willing to risk open conflict with the strongest forces in the world. Unless there appears immediately in the countries in question a group of men, able and willing to remove the causes of dissatisfaction—unequal distribution of colonies, high national economic barriers, and selective trade treaties—the world must certainly be plunged into most disastrous war in history.—Ex.

UNITED CHURCH HEAD WELCOMED TO PASS

The occasion of the official visit of Rt. Rev. Peter Bryce, D.D., to The Pass brought out large audiences at the United churches at Blaimore and Bellevue on Sunday last.

Dr. Bryce arrived from the west by Saturday afternoon's train, after having visited all the important centres between Edmonton and the coast, and Victoria and Vancouver east to the Crow, including Nelson, Trail and Rossland.

On Sunday morning, Dr. Bryce briefly addressed the local Sunday school, where upwards of two hundred pupils and teachers, had gathered. A prize awarded to a question was won by Billie Royle, who will receive in due course a beautifully autographed book from Toronto.

At 11 o'clock, Dr. Bryce addressed a large congregation in the church. The service was in charge of the pastor, Rev. A. E. Larke. Dr. Bryce chose as his subject "The Spirit of The Church," and in the course of an able sermon outlined some of the great works undertaken and being successfully accomplished by the United Church of Canada and Newfoundland.

At this service, also, an address to the children was followed by a test question "What is my text?" Dr. Bryce stated his text had four words, the first of four letters starting with "k," the second two letters starting with "t," the third three letters starting with "t," and the fourth five letters starting with "r." Two small children, a boy and a girl had the correct answer promptly, and will be awarded books from Toronto.

The Bellevue United church choir of twenty-five voices, under the able leadership of Mrs. R. Upton, were in attendance, and rendered an anthem and led the singing. Dr. Bryce took occasion to commend Mrs. Upton and her choir upon their excellent showing.

At 1:30, Dr. Bryce addressed the congregation of the United church at Bellevue, following which he entrained for Macleod, where he spoke at night.

At the morning service here, the infant child of Rev. and Mrs. A. E. Larke was baptized by Dr. Bryce.

Dr. Bryce hopes to reach Toronto towards the middle of March. Later, in June, he will proceed east to Newfoundland, where he will be in attendance at the annual United Church conference at St. John's.

AGAIN SOCIAL CREDIT

"...If my hon. friend were given that marvelous gift which he says the bankers hold, would he stop at the paltry $18,000,000 which the banks of Canada earned last year? Any organization with such limitless possibilities for creating wealth could make the Count of Monte Cristo look like a piker? The government of Alberta has been trying these things and all they have left at the present time is the little sheet of paper which I hold in my hand—the outline of things they propose to do in the future. What do we ask for? We ask for a simple plan and a simple statement of fact. You cannot in this world get something for nothing without taking that something away from somebody else."—R. J. DEACMAN, M.P., Huron North, Ont.

CLUB MEMBERS DRAW

$3,548 ON FREE INSURANCE

Benefits of free insurance given with each membership in the Alberta Motor Association are demonstrated in official figures issued this week by J. A. McNell, of Edmonton, secretary of the organization.

Cash claims amounting to $3,548 have been paid to members involved in accidents as a result of this insurance. In one fatal accident, the payment was $1,100, and in another $1,000.

The insurance is provided as a result of an arrangement between the A.M.A. and the Maryland Casualty Company, of Baltimore, Md. Members of the A.M.A. receive the insurance free with their annual membership, the cost of which is $10. For an additional fee of $2.50, the wife, son or daughter of a member is given an associate membership and is entitled to all the free insurance and indemnity benefits.

Accident insurance is a membership benefit that is regarded as an important help in time of misfortune, though all are endeavoring to avoid "accident" situations.

In cases where a club member is injured in an automobile accident, while on foot or in a car, his personal automobile accident insurance provides a weekly income of $10 up to 30 weeks. Should the injuries prove fatal, the member's estate or family receives $1,000 or more, according to the value of the insurance certificate earned by membership renewals. On each renewal the value of the original insurance of $1,000 is increased by $100, up to a maximum of $1,500.

Many letters have been received from members of the A.M.A. expressing their satisfaction with the insurance arrangement.

Time Fully Occupied

Chairman of B.B.C. Advisory Council is Busy Man

Lord Macmillan, who succeeds the Archbishop of York as chairman of the B.B.C. Advisory Council, is one of the busiest of men. The number and variety of the consultations and inquiries over which he has presided in the past 12 years, in addition to his legal work, is astonishing. These are the subjects with which they deal: Lunacy, miners' wages, the British Pharmacopoeia, street offences, finance and industry, income tax, the wool industry, shipbuilding, Canadian banking, and disputes between Holland and Norway. Somehow, he finds time, too, to work for the Pilgrim Trust, the Carnegie Trust, a hospital, the National Library of Scotland, a Scottish legal society, and King George's Jubilee Trust, recounts the News of the World. Such a list makes it easier to believe a story told of his days as a judge. To a long-winded counsel he is said to have said this note: "Patience Stakes: 1, Macmillan; Also ran, Job." Counsel took the hint.

Russia's Wheat Problem

To Plant 235,000,000 Acres of Soviet Farm Land

Schedules for planting 235,000,000 acres of Soviet farm land this spring were published recently in Moscow. About 88 per cent of this area will be planted by the kolchozes (collective farms); 11 per cent by the sovkhozes (state farms); and less than one per cent by individual peasants.

The schedule provides measures to guarantee the high quality of farm products. Semi-official sources declared the coming year should see unprecedented development of the speed-up movement and an increase in all harvests, especially grain.

Mammoth Bones Found By Workers Near Lebre, Saskatchewan

The sketches which accompany this article show bones of a mammoth which were found near Lebre, Saskatchewan, by half-breed road workers.

They were in the possession of Dr. V. Rondeau, dentist of Rouleau, Sask., and are supposed to be about 10,000 years old.

The mammoth, progenitor of the modern elephant, inhabited the temperate parts of the northern world during the glacial period, and survived until the Neolithic period of human history, a comparatively recent time.

The animal was about the same size as the modern Asiatic elephant.

BIRD SANCTUARIES

Jack Miner and his two sons, Manly (left), Jasper (centre), about to liberate a pair of Canada Geese to study their route of migration for scientific purposes.

Most people look upon Jack Miner's tagging system of ducks and geese as a hobby, when the fact of matter is it can't be estimated the value in dollars and cents by the various provinces of Canada and American States, because it gives the authorities knowledge of where the birds are each season of the year, and which state and province kills the most and where they are killed in any huge number.

For illustration, North Carolina at one time was killing more than any ten states. Jack Miner gives this information to the proper authorities with the result that several sanctuaries were established in that locality which gives the birds a place to breathe between shots. Had it not been for Jack Miner's tagging system the authorities would not have realized what a great percentage were being killed in such localities.

The sanctuary has proven that birds will come back to the same place for food and protection. While making a catch a goose was caught wearing two tags—one on each leg. One had been put on in the fall of 1924, while the tag on the other was placed on in fall of 1928. Several are often re-caught which have been tagged back as far as the fall of 1928, but seldom is one caught that has been tagged back as far as 1924, chiefly because Jack Miner wasn't tagging many back that far. Last winter one was killed in North Carolina that had been tagged in 1918, making 14 years it had worn the tag; or in other words 28 trips across the continent. Jack Miner asks how many trips would it have made back and forth across the continent had it not had a sanctuary to give it safety from the hunters' shot and shell.

Furthermore, the tagging system proves that they go from one place of safety to another. Jack Miner has received several photos from owners of bird sanctuaries in North Carolina, other states as well as other sanctuaries in Ontario, which had been taken from blinds and which shows the geese wearing his tag. Thus while there are chains of sanctuaries throughout America, birds can't become exterminated yet and the hunters have good shooting between these sanctuaries. In other words the sanctuaries stop any exterminating possibility.

Millions of dollars have rightly been spent in the United States and Canada for museums where only stuffed specimens can be seen. Jack Miner asks, is it not just as sane if not more so, to maintain sanctuaries where specimens can be seen alive and saved from extermination.

Outsiders Get Posts

United States Scientists Hold Jobs In British Universities

Throughout the Empire there was a growing tendency for the best posts in science and engineering to go to citizens of the United States declared Frank Parkinson, guest of honor at a function given by the chancellor and senate of Leeds University. Mr. Parkinson, who is head of a well-known Leeds firm, recently gave $1,000,000 to the university. In trying to find out why this state of affairs existed, Mr. Parkinson said he had had the opportunity of meeting some of these people. He found they had qualifications which rendered them suitable for the posts. The posts were entirely free from any pressure, and, in fact, other things being equal, the British subject would have been preferred.

He wondered whether there was anything in the science training of the universities of the United States which qualified their students better for the posts. He was perfectly satisfied the material available in Britain was better than that in the United States, and he could only think there was something in the training they received that produced these results.

Mr. Parkinson expressed the belief that the provincial universities of Great Britain were the best institutions for improved science training. He thought this for two main reasons. A sterling quality of character existed in the provinces to a greater degree probably than in some other parts of the country. Furthermore, he believed that the older universities were not quite so well qualified to meet the situation for one main reason that they drew their students from a different strata of society.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

FEBRUARY 21

THE POWER OF JESUS OVER DEATH

Golden text: I am the resurrection, and the life. John 11:25.
Lesson: John 11:12-11.
Devotional reading: Job 14:13-15; 19:23-27.

Explanations And Comments

The Death of Lazarus, John 11:1-16. "He whom thou lovest is sick," was the message which came to Jesus in Perea from Martha and Mary, the sisters of Lazarus. They believed that Jesus would start as once for Bethany without being asked, but he told his disciples that Lazarus' illness was for the glory of God and of himself, and tarried where he was two days longer. Then he proposed going back to Judea, but his disciples remonstrated, reminding him of the danger of going where the Jews had so lately sought to stone him. He assured them that his life was safe as long as God had work for him to do, and added that he must go to awaken Lazarus out of sleep. His disciples took his words literally; if Lazarus was sleeping he would recover. Jesus told them plainly that Lazarus was dead, and that for the sake of their faith he was glad he himself had not been there. He invited them to go with him, and Thomas, despondent yet loyal and brave, said to the others, "Let us also go, that we may die with him."

The Meeting of Jesus and Martha, verses 17-27. Buryal in Palestine has always taken place on the day of death, and so when Jesus reached the neighborhood of Bethany Lazarus had been in the tomb four days. Martha went on the way and exclaimed in her sorrow, "Lord, if thou hadst been here my brother had not died." Jesus then said "Even now I know whatsoever thou shalt ask of God, God will give thee."

The Raising of Lazarus, verses 28-46. "Where have ye laid him?" "Lord, come and see," Jesus wept. "Take ye away the stone," Jesus calmly bade, but Martha objected, reminding Jesus that Lazarus had been dead four days and by this time the body was decaying. Said I not unto thee, that if thou believest thou shouldst see the glory of God?" questioned Jesus. Then with a loud voice Jesus cried, "Lazarus, come forth." And Lazarus came forth. He was bound hand and foot with grave-clothes, with a napkin close about his face. "Loose him, and let him go," Jesus bade. Here the story of the miracle ends.

Conducts Orchestra In Palestine

Toscanini's Organization Composed Of Jewish Refugees From Germany

—Arturo Toscanini, who will be long remembered by New York audiences for his musical genius and by all for his courageous anti-Fascist stand, has found a new field for usefulness in Palestine, where he has been conducting the orchestra composed of Jewish refugees from Germany, a musical organization which he has hailed as one of the world's finest.

Palestine showed its appreciation recently by presenting Toscanini with an orange grove which is expected to bear fruit next year and which bears his name. Toscanini, in giving thanks, announced that his refugee orchestra might go to Paris next summer to demonstrate its distinctiveness to the world.

Dolls For Princess

Two Miniature Dolls Received By Princess Elizabeth

Princess Elizabeth is not usually permitted to accept presents from strangers. But an exception was recently allowed for Ellen Martin and her young sister, Betty, of Weymouth, who sent the princess two miniature dolls.

The girls have received a letter from the queen telling of her majesty's decision.

The dolls are so small they were sent in a matchbox. Ellen explained she had seen pictures of the princess's dolls and they were all large so she tried to complete the household with smaller ones. They were hand-made.

Canadian Pacific Extends Air-Conditioned Service

The Canadian Pacific Railway Angus Shops at Montreal are humming with activity these days as the Company continues its comprehensive programme of air-conditioning. In the current year, air-conditioning equipment will be added to 135 cars, including standard sleepers, dining cars, tourist sleepers, parlor cars, and day coaches, and these, in addition to the 130 cars air-conditioned in 1936, will permit a very considerable extension of air-conditioned services throughout the Dominion.

Provision is made by the 1937 programme to provide air-conditioned dining cars on all trains carrying air-conditioned sleepers or parlor cars, besides additional sleeping and parlor cars for use on trains between Montreal and Quebec, Montreal and Ottawa, Toronto and Ottawa, and trains 39 and 40 between Montreal and Saint John, N.B. Air-conditioning of tourist cars for use on the transcontinental trains between Vancouver and Montreal and Toronto is a new and interesting feature of the 1937 programme. This will supplement last year's services which allowed air-conditioned standard sleepers, compartment-lounge, bedroom and parlor cars to be used on transcontinental trains between Montreal, Toronto, and Vancouver; the Montreal, Toronto, Hamilton, Chicago services; and the night trains between Montreal and Boston. Air-conditioned sleepers and lounge cars were also provided for the "Mountaineer" service between Chicago, St. Paul, and Vancouver. Some idea of the work connected with air-conditioning is given by the pictures above. Cars are stripped, as in lower right, and insulated to keep out heat, cold, and dust. The pictures at the left show some of the material being placed in the cars. The satisfaction written all over the face of the young lady in "Lower Six" expresses the public's feelings toward this new type of controlled comfort. In the centre is a close-up of the control equipment, by which, as the arrows indicate, the individual can regulate the volume and direction of the flow of air.

A RENDEZVOUS WITH DEBT

I have a rendezvous with debt,
A list o' guys I ain't paid yet
For things I bought the easy way,
And now, woe me, I gotta pay.
I cannot golf or swim or fish,
For me life has another dish.
My future bread, I'll have to win it
I ate my cake—now must lie in it.
My brow is pimpled in cold sweat
I have a rendezvous with debt.

I have a rendezvous with debt,
Where things put off must still be met,
Where men who trusted me will find
Their confidence was not untimed.
Where I must stand up face-to-face
Before the challenge of disgrace
And dole my earnings bit by bit
To guys who should be gettin' it.
Beside a stream of sad regret
I have a rendezvous with debt.

I have a rendezvous with debt,
My back is tired—my brow is wet;
My feet hurt and my head aches some
But conscience says, "get on, you bum!"

For days gone by I must account,
In most embarrassing amount;
When credit seemed to be a friend,
But turned out bad 'n' false no end.
So now, remorsefully I fret—
I have a rendezvous with debt.

I have a rendezvous with debt.
I feel the tightening of her net.
She turns dead ears to words of love,
And money's what I've got least of.
So salesman now just get the door—
Luxuries interest me no more.
It sure will help to ease my pain
And put me on my feet again
If I can keep my teeth hard set—
I have a rendezvous with debt.

A violinist was bitterly disappointed with the account of his recital printed in the paper of a small town. "I told your man three or four times," complained the musician to the owner of the paper, "that the instrument I used was a genuine Stradivarius, and in his story there was not a word about it, not a word." Whereupon the owner said with a laugh: "That is as it should be. When Mr. Stradivarius gets his fiddles advertised in my paper under ten cents a line, you come around and let me know."

Same Language

A woman who did not understand the language of business went into the Bank of England and asked to consult someone about her war loan holding. The clerk to whom she talked happened to be rather a grave person. "Is it a case of conversion or redemption, Madam?" "Conversion? Redemption?" faltered the woman. "Er—pardon me, is this the Bank of England or the Church of England?"

Mrs. Hick: "So you've got a new gown after all. I thought you said you couldn't afford one this summer." Mrs. Dick: "So I did, but my husband had a streak of luck recently. He broke his leg the day after he had taken out an accident policy."

The bright young thing entered the clothier's shop and approached the counter. "I want a present for an old gentleman for Christmas," she said.

"Yes, ma'am," replied the clerk. "Something nice in ties?"

"No; he has a beard," the girl explained.

"H'm," the clerk murmured very thoughtfully. "Perhaps a fancy vest might be suitable?"

"No; it's a long beard," came back the answer.

The clerk sighed wearily: "Well, how about carpet slippers?"

FEBRUARY 17 YEARS AGO AND NOW

The National Petroleum News is authority for the statement that for 75 years the oil industry has put in the ground for dry holes, drilling, lifting cost, royalties, bonuses, overhead, and other expenses, a sum representing a total cost averaging $1.41 per barrel of crude oil, and all it got out of it was a barrel of crude oil worth $1.21.

Twice as many wells, it is stated, have been drilled than were actually necessary to recover the oil produced to date. In East Texas, with more than 20,000 wells in production, involving a cost of $300,000,000, it has been proven that one-third that number of wells would adequately provide present and new future requirements of that field.

An interesting geological fact is that 10 years ago the average drilling depth was about 2,300 feet. The national average today in the United States is well over 4,000 feet. Before 1900, the average cost of drilling a well was about $5,000. Between 1900 and 1920 the cost averaged $10,000. Between 1920 and 1935 it was about $25,000, and today the average well costs $35,000, with the usual expenditure for deep wells ranging between $45,000 and $68,000 per well. —adv.

HAS FAITH IN WESTERN DROUTH AREAS OF WEST

Ottawa.—The western drouth problem in its historical and economic aspects was outlined to the House of Commons by Hon. J. G. Gardiner, minister of agriculture, who predicted in 10 years there would be more people in the so-called drouth area than there are to-day.

Mr. Gardiner drew on his experience as a farmer battling drouth in both the western states and in Saskatchewan and as a cabinet minister in the Saskatchewan government to show the open prairie lands were capable of producing great wealth and should not be abandoned.

Some 800,000 people, he said, inhabited the triangular area of 300 municipalities which had suffered from drouth in the past five years. These people could not be settled anywhere else in Canada and given the same opportunity they enjoyed where they were.

The minister spoke as the house gave second reading to his bill to amend the prairie farm rehabilitation act under which drouth-combatting measures were initiated two years ago.

So far the Dominion government had advanced $58,000,000 to maintain the people of the drouth area of Saskatchewan and of this sum $27,000,000 had been assumed wholly by the Dominion. The rest represented debts owing from the province.

This money was paid out in recognition of the responsibilities the Dominion had for the people, arising out of the conditions under which they settled the land and the inducements held out to them to grow wheat during the war. It also involved recognition of the drouth as a national problem affecting the whole of Canada.

The time had come, Mr. Gardiner said, to do something more than keep the people on the land, to take some constructive steps to improve their conditions. Under the drouth rehabilitation scheme water holes had been dug and dams constructed. Plans were now under way for shifting some of the farmers to better lands and putting lands to their best use.

"I should like to say to those who are concerned about the future of Saskatchewan," he said, "that we are going to have good crops again in western Canada. Some day we will have a combination of good crops and fairly good prices. When we do our position will not be impossible. That is the reason I think the government should give some attention to maintaining the people in this area."

Wheat production in Saskatchewan in the three years, 1926-27-28, was valued at $1,180,000,000. In the three years ending with 1933 it was valued at $354,000,000. The drop of about $800,000,000 was the equivalent of the whole of the debt of the province, provincial, municipal, school districts and private. Another period of good crops and good prices would make a great change.

To pessimists who complained about the climate of the prairies, Mr. Gardiner said if they had a different climate people could not live there. The climate was suited for growing wheat. The people had not suffered any more from drouth in the past few years than the people of the western states suffered in the nineties. A few inches of rainfall might spell the difference between bumper crop and a failure but other conditions, wind and temperature, entered the picture and dry weather alone was not the cause of crop failures.

As an evidence of the economic importance of the area the minister said the 18,000,000 acres of improved land afflicted with drouth this year was one-quarter of the entire acreage of improved land in the Dominion. The population in the area was equal to the whole population of Saskatchewan, the third most populous province in Canada.

Freedom Of Worship

Mexican Catholics Resume Possession Of Churches

Orizaba, Mexico.—Loyal Roman Catholics, resuming possession of this city's 14 churches closed for 10 years, launched a Lenten crusade against secularism of religious property and the government's program of socialistic education.

"Never permit the churches to be closed again," handbills urged the devout who despatched to State Governor Miguel Aleman an appeal for freedom of worship.

Small groups of laymen sat on wooden benches within the close-shuttered churches to keep guard but police and military authorities apparently intended to take no action.

Crowds estimated at 15,000 persons broke into the buildings in ignominious demonstration after a 14-year-old girl worshipper was killed by police in a raid on a secret mass in a private home.

Two special agents of the department of interior, presumably acting for President Lázaro Cárdenas, joined state authorities in efforts to find a solution to the question.

The Catholics vowed they were determined to keep the churches open but there was no attempt to conduct services, although Lent had begun.

The government has pursued a policy of confiscating church properties to speed its program of socialization, and there have been numerous clashes between church and state.

The program for teaching socialism in the schools, and barring religious instruction, has not yet been enforced but already it has caused vigorous Catholic opposition.

Arabs Going To London

Will Contest Commission's Decision On Disorder In Palestine

Jerusalem.—Palestine Arabs announced plans to send their own delegation to London to contest the findings of the royal commission which investigated Jewish-Arab disorders but Arab leaders asserted they expected the commission to favor the Jews in its report on last year's general strike and resultant rioting in protest against Jewish immigration. The Arab high committee, which sponsored the six-month strike, announced a conference would be held soon to name the London delegation. This group, Arab leaders said, would urge quick application of any pro-Arab findings of the royal commission, which recently closed three months of hearings and returned to England.

Members of the Arab group charged that pro-Arab findings of previous commissions had been ignored by the British government.

With Arabs generally expressing dissatisfaction with the royal commission's investigation, scattered disorders continued throughout Palestine.

Grade Crossings

Large Sums Expended On Work Of Elimination Of Dangerous Spots

Ottawa.—Of the $1,200,000 made available to the board of railway commissioners last year for the elimination of grade crossings and for protection where level crossings remained, $616,305 has already been committed a report of the board of railway commissioners tabled in parliament disclosed. A number of projects are under consideration and will use up the remainder.

The amounts already committed by provinces are: Prince Edward Island, nil; Nova Scotia, $40,185; New Brunswick, $45,212; Quebec, $81,498; Ontario, $296,067; Manitoba, nil; Saskatchewan, $97,550; Alberta, $30,875; British Columbia, $54,780.

Last year 333 persons were killed in railway accidents and 2,972 injured. The killed with the corresponding figures for 1935 in brackets follow: Passengers three (nine); employees 70 (50); others 129 (126); trespassers 122 (130).

Highway crossing accidents last year killed 113 persons and injured 367.

Renew Relief Loans

Ottawa.—Relief loans of $3,613,019 to Saskatchewan and $500,000 to Alberta, which those provinces were unable to redeem on their recent maturity, have been renewed for one year at three per cent. interest, Hon. C. A. Dunning, minister of finance, revealed in two orders-in-council tabled in the House of Commons.

For Wider Trade

Tariffs Prove An Impediment To World Peace

Cape Town.—General Jan Smuts, the South African statesman, declared that "new tariffs have proved a greater impediment to world peace than ideologies."

In a broadcast address welcoming the opening of the British industrial fair in England, General Smuts made a strong plea for the expansion of international trade, not only for its own sake but for peace.

He warned his audience, however, not to be misled by accounts of economic recovery. "Optimism is not enough in these grave times and may be seriously misleading," he declared. "When you speak of recovery date not forget that the immediate world outlook in many ways is dark and menacing as it has not been since the war."

HOUSING PLAN IS BEING USED ON A WIDER SCALE

Ottawa.—Moderately priced houses are now being erected under the Dominion Housing Act, the act is being used on an expanding scale and within its framework many useful housing schemes may be fitted.

This was the way Hon. Charles Dunning, minister of finance, summed up the housing situation in the House of Commons as Denton Massey (Cons., Toronto-Greenwood) urged the government to develop a housing plan which would enable working men to build their own homes. Up to the end of January, 1,119 family units had been built under the Housing act, said Mr. Dunning, at a total cost of $5,376,000. While at first the tendency had been to use the act only for the construction of more expensive houses, the building of lower-cost homes had been encouraged and the average cost of all houses built had come down.

Plans had recently been approved for a house costing $2,700 including the land, which was definitely in the low price class and which an owner could finance for $14.12 per month.

The Dominion Housing Act initiated by the last administration had been in operation something over a year. The average cost of houses built so far was about $4,800. The act had not proved as popular as had been expected but, Mr. Dunning thought, it provided the framework into which could be fitted many useful housing schemes.

The model $2,700 house would have living room, kitchen, bathroom, three bedrooms, full basement, and central heat. It would be well insulated and well constructed.

Miss Macphail said Canada was at least 10 years behind other countries in housing policy. She believed the time for government expenditure on housing was in the depths of depression.

To save home owners threatened with confiscation of their property for taxes, Mr. Lawson suggested there might be some adaptation of the principles of the Farmers' Creditors Arrangement Act and the Farm Loan Act which had been of value to debt-burdened farmers and had enabled them to retain their properties.

Cannot Mint Special Coins

Time Will Not Permit Issue To Commemorate Coronation

Ottawa.—Time required in obtaining the necessary dies would not permit the minting of 1,000,000 silver dollars to commemorate the coronation of King George VI., Hon. C. A. Dunning, finance minister, told the House of Commons. Mrs. Martha Ball (Cons., Yukon) asked the government if it would not be possible to make this issue as a typical Canadian token to the coronation year. Mr. Dunning explained the intricacies of minting and the experience with the silver dollar strike to mark the jubilee of King George V. Some 745,000 of those dollars have been issued.

Thomas Reid (Lib., New Westminster) supported the suggestion but said he would not want it to rest with a souvenir issue but that all silver be taken over by the government and certificates issued. This, he said, would be a means of meeting the unemployment problem.

Floods In England

Wide Sections Submerged As Rivers Continue To Rise

London.—Worst floods in a quarter of a century were predicted as steadily rising rivers, spurred by unceasing rains, submerged wider sections of England and France.

More heavy rain was forecast in both countries. Swollen rivers drove inhabitants from their homes in lowlands, and in some places, flood tide rose in city streets to the rooftops of dwellings.

England was flooded. Thousands of acres of farm land were inundated and large numbers of householders forced to flee their homes along several stretches of the Thames River.

Appeals For Financial Aid

Oxford University Needs Funds For Extension Of Work

Oxford, Eng.—Oxford University has appealed to all English-speaking people for help to enable the university to carry on its facilities to full use.

No definite goal was mentioned in the appeal, but it is considered £200,000 ($1,000,000) will be needed for endowment and extension of the Bodleian library and a further £200,000 for work on other buildings.

Additional funds are sought for staffing, equipping and maintaining new laboratories. Research funds for the arts and sciences are needed, and the extent to which these subjects will be explored by the university will depend on response to the current appeal.

Lord Nuffield, the motorcar manufacturer, has promised the first £100,000 to start the fund as an addition to his numerous previous gifts to Oxford, amounting to more than £2,000,000.

Viscount Halifax, chancellor of the university, declares the needs are not new and the appeal fulfills a policy long since adopted. The fund, Lord Halifax adds, would "enable certain work of the first importance to be set in hand, undertaking of which has long since been deferred and has become a matter of immediate necessity."

Ask Preferential Duties

British Poultrymen Claim Egg Industry Is Being Affected

London.—British poultrymen want preferential duties on eggs imported from the dominions. The poultry men contend the condition of their industry was most serious, especially as affecting the small producer, due mainly to increased imports and the higher cost of feed.

The question was referred to the poultry sub-committee of the parliamentary committee for consideration and a report.

WOULD REGULATE BUS AND TRUCK HIGHWAY TRAFFIC

Ottawa.—Plans to regulate bus and truck traffic on Canadian highways comparable to the control now exercised over railways were before the senate railway committee. The committee was considering the transport bill.

Hon. C. D. Howe, minister of transport, explained the bill to the committee. It is framed to change the railway commission and extend its powers to include shipping, air transportation and highway traffic. The shipping provisions would apply only to inland waters.

The difficulty in regard to highway traffic was the narrow jurisdiction of the Dominion. Mr. Howe stated, it was limited to inter-provincial, international traffic and traffic on Dominion highways.

Such restricted jurisdiction would hamper effective control as most of the traffic is intra-provincial and on highways other than those built by the Dominion.

Mr. Howe hopes the provinces will pass legislation regulating the traffic within the provinces to coincide with the federal legislation and designate the board of transport commissioners to administer it. In this way the board would not be hampered by jurisdiction disputes.

The committee has wired provincial governments to send representatives before the committee and discuss this point. With the British North America Act as it is, this is said to be the only way highway traffic can be effectively regulated.

A. Roy Brown, Mr. Toronto, famous Canadian war ace who shot down Baron Von Richthofen, appeared for General Airways Limited and United Air Services, and argued against some of the provisions of the bill.

Actual changes in the bill will be left until the great number of witnesses have been heard.

Mr. Brown said his companies limited their operations to servicing northern mine centres, carrying prospectors and their supplies, and it was essential they furnish transportation at lowest possible rates.

He feared if his companies had to make returns to the new board on the tariffs and taxes charged, it would entail increased staff expenditures. "Airway companies already were called upon to make returns to his department, J. A. Wilson, controller of civil aviation, said. "The provision would not add any burden," he declared.

HUGE SUM TO BE RAISED BY BRITAIN FOR DEFENCES

London.—Britain moved to make up to $2,000,000,000 of new money available for building up her defensive rearmament.

Briefly announced in the House of Commons and amplified by a white paper issued by the treasury, the plan is to borrow up to £400,000,000 over a five-year period, the debt to be redeemed inside of 30 years.

The chancellor of the exchequer, Neville Chamberlain, announcing the plan, said a bill would be introduced to give the government general power to borrow money or to use realized surpluses for defence expenditures. Present government revenues would not meet the defence expenditures, he said. He had warned last April that a defence loan would be necessary. The treasury's white paper explained power would be included in the bill to transfer any annual budget surplus within the five-year borrowing period to costs of defence instead of applying it to redemption of the national debt.

Money borrowed under the plan can be used only as voted by parliament in the estimates, the white paper made clear, thus giving parliament complete control of the fund.

Provision is made for repayment of sums to the exchequer from money provided by parliament for the defence services, with interest at three per cent. yearly.

For the first five years interest only will be paid on the loan and thereafter interest and capital will be repaid in 30 equal annual instalments.

The white paper pointed out that the £400,000,000 does not represent actual cost of the new defence program but was the aggregate which could be borrowed.

Borrowed money will not be used for current budget expenditures on the maintenance of the defence forces. It was not anticipated, the paper said, that a fixed sum would be allocated annually from the loan and from current revenue for defence purposes.

It is understood instead the chancellor of the exchequer will decide annually to appropriate the amount needed from each source for defensive purposes.

In borrowing, the government may keep a balance on hand to meet possible contingencies, the paper explained. That is, if £100,000,000 were required for a given period, £150,000,000 might be borrowed so as to meet possible supplementary estimates voted by parliament.

Informed quarters viewed the announcement as offering no prospect whatever of a reduction of taxation in the next budget.

Five German Fliers Killed

Military Plane Injured Several In Busy Berlin Street

Berlin.—A Junkers military plane crashed in the Muellerstrasse, a busy thoroughfare in northern Berlin, killing five airforce fliers and spraying burning fuel on the street and pedestrians. Several persons were seriously burned, one dying.

The plane careened off a street car, severing trolley wires, which were short-circuited. An automobile on the street caught fire and burned.

The plane crashed almost in front of a cage containing 15 lions belonging to a travelling menagerie. The roaring of the frightened animals added to the confusion.

After the lightning struck the barn it ran 50 feet along the ground, overturning large boulders and splintering a big elm tree. It then ran along a fence for a quarter of a mile, demolishing fence posts until it entered the ground, tearing out huge stumps in the process.
